

"Live B4U Die" Summit: A Wake Up Call For Teenagers And Youth

ATLANTA, GA (May 20, 2009)—Wake-up! Wake-up! youth and teenagers and "Live B4U Die." This wake-up call is a campaign message to young people to avoid circumstances and choices that may cause untimely and tragic deaths. The Community Council of Metropolitan Atlanta, Inc. (CCMA) is sponsoring the "Live B4U Die" Summit on June 13, 2009, at the Central United Methodist Church, 502 Mitchell Street, Atlanta, Georgia 30314. This free program will have a modified New Orleans funeral-style format to provide a much needed wake-up call to attendees.

"Every day, young people are prematurely losing their lives as a result of homicide, suicide, HIV, automobile accidents, risky behavior and poor choices. This trend should and can be reversed," said Norma Joy Barnes, executive director of CCMA. "This 'Live B4U Die' life-saving initiative will benefit young and old, alike."

Reservations are strongly suggested to confirm seating. Group reservations for up to twenty persons can also be made by calling (404) 935-5859.

For additional information, please contact the Community Council of Metropolitan Atlanta (CCMA) at (404) 935-5859 or by email at liveb4udiesummit@live.com.